

KitBuilder® manages print, orders, distribution and inventory with ease and efficiency...

KitBuilder is a robust web-based print management tool. Items placed in KitBuilder inventory, like sales kits, brochures, premiums or any other marketing material are available for ordering via its web interface.

Document Solutions

KitBuilder manages orders, distribution and inventory with ease and efficiency. Also, Pick & Pack items can be placed in the order, with a specific sequence determined by the User.

KitBuilder can also be used as a P.O.D. (Print on Demand) ordering system. Documents can be ordered, then printed from an existing library of PDF's, or new documents can be uploaded, printed and distributed.

Key Features

For Users

- KitBuilder is a very easy to use, web based application for ordering print or Marketing Materials.
- A simple shopping cart manages orders. Users can search for specific items or browse your entire catalog of print and Marketing materials.
- Shipping info can be entered or prepopulated with the User's shipping info. UPS, FedEx or Other 3rd party ship methods can be selected. A User can follow the order via a link to FedEx or UPS in KitBuilder.
- Automatic email confirmations are sent to the User and to Customer Service Reps here at DG3 every time an order is placed, and again when the order is shipped.

For Managers

- KitBuilder is simple to use. It's also a powerful print management tool. It's the same basic interface your User sees, with enhanced reporting and admin. functions.

IT & Automation features

- A User can be logged in automatically to KitBuilder via Single Server Sign-on, allowing users to seamlessly connect to KitBuilder without ever knowing they have left your site.
- KitBuilder orders can be placed automatically via XML feed or FTP bypassing the KitBuilder interface entirely
- Our KitBuilder developers are continuously enhancing the product. If you have a feature or function you would like to have in your KitBuilder, ask and we will try to add it for you.

Benefits

Custom Skinning

- DG3 can "Skin" your KitBuilder website so that it matches your own website or Corporate intranet.

Reports

- Order History Reports: by date range, by User, or All Orders. This report contains basic order information.
- Material Usage Reports: by date range, by User, or All Orders. This report provides current inventory levels of each item, as well as the ability to "drill down" on a specific item and see who is ordering which items, and when they ordered it.
- Inventory Reports: Current Inventory Levels, Estimated inventory depletion date, and Average Monthly Usage.

Administration

- Business Rules: KitBuilder conforms to agreed upon business rules, like minimum inventory levels, Ship methods, Order minimums and maximums, etc.
- Admin Menus: Manage individual User specific menu options. Access can be granted on an individual User or Group basis.
- Admin User: Grant access to an individual User by valid email address.
- Admin Items: Administrator can delete items, modify existing items or create new ones. Upload production files, set minimum & maximum quantities, adjust email notification thresholds and much more!

KitBuilder® - manage print, inventory & distribution via the web

A Case In Point

How some Companies use KitBuilder

Company A uses KitBuilder to manage their P.O.D. (print on demand) Financial Market Analysis reports to their subscribers. These reports arrive daily via FTP and are printed digitally and fulfilled. KitBuilder also handles back issues from a PDF library of thousands of issues that go back 3 years.

Company B uses KitBuilder to manage Sales and Marketing Materials. Company B's customers order bulk print materials for distribution to employees directly from KitBuilder.

Company C uses KitBuilder to manage not only Sales and Marketing Materials but premium items, like umbrellas, tote bags, neckties, golf balls, shirts, etc., as well as inventory of Financial documents, like Annual Reports & 10k's.

Company D has users login via "Single Server Sign-on" from its Agent's website. Since agents are already logged in, they can order Marketing Materials directly from KitBuilder
