Annual reports

A Case In Point

Britain's largest tile and wood flooring specialist came to DG3 with a design brief that had to consider the new IFRS requirements.

Historically, we have designed their Annual Report in a square format, synonymous with the market they operated in and a clear brand identifier for the company.

Our challenge was to provide a solution to echo the 'tile' shape, but to accommodate the increased disclosure requirement.

Our solution was to produce a 'stepped' Annual Report, allowing for the front reporting section to maintain the square layout with the accounts section increasing to full A4 – wire-bound into an A4 outer cover.

The result, the impact of the additional accounting information was reduced dramatically, achieving a stand-out design. All within time and budgetary parameters.

"Having worked with this team over a number of years, I can say without question that their ability to create stunning Annual Reports to our exacting requirements is second to none.

Through being pro-active they are able to control our project smoothly, by pre-empting the timetable pressure points they ensure the final Annual Report is delivered on time, to a high standard and on budget.

I would have no hesitation in recommending them."
