A Case In Point

DG3 produces a large number of PowerPoint presentations for one of the world's leading investment banks. These are supplied to DG3 intermittently throughout the day and early evening via our online ordering system which, on release, automatically emails customer service, pre-press staff and production management about imminent jobs.

DG3's automated pre-flighting checks all the files for image quality, embedded fonts and pagination. Errors are reported to the customer, DG3 pre-press staff and production management by automated email.

All the documents are produced in full colour and typically ten to fifty-pages long, with print runs ranging from five to one hundred copies. Turnaround can be as little as six-hours, although the average is eighteen hours. All items are wire-bound, and delivery is made direct to the designated department by DG3 drivers with the appropriate security clearance.
