A large reduction in fixed expenses through the systematic transition of large portions of production and distribution services from your balance sheet to ours, and from your costly office real estate to our economically efficient production facilities, located near your offices.

Every corporation searches for innovative ways to eliminate non-essential expenditures.

Only DG3 provides a proven, broad-based, cost saving solution as an alternative to traditional facilities management.

The search is over. Near Site Solutions is the answer.

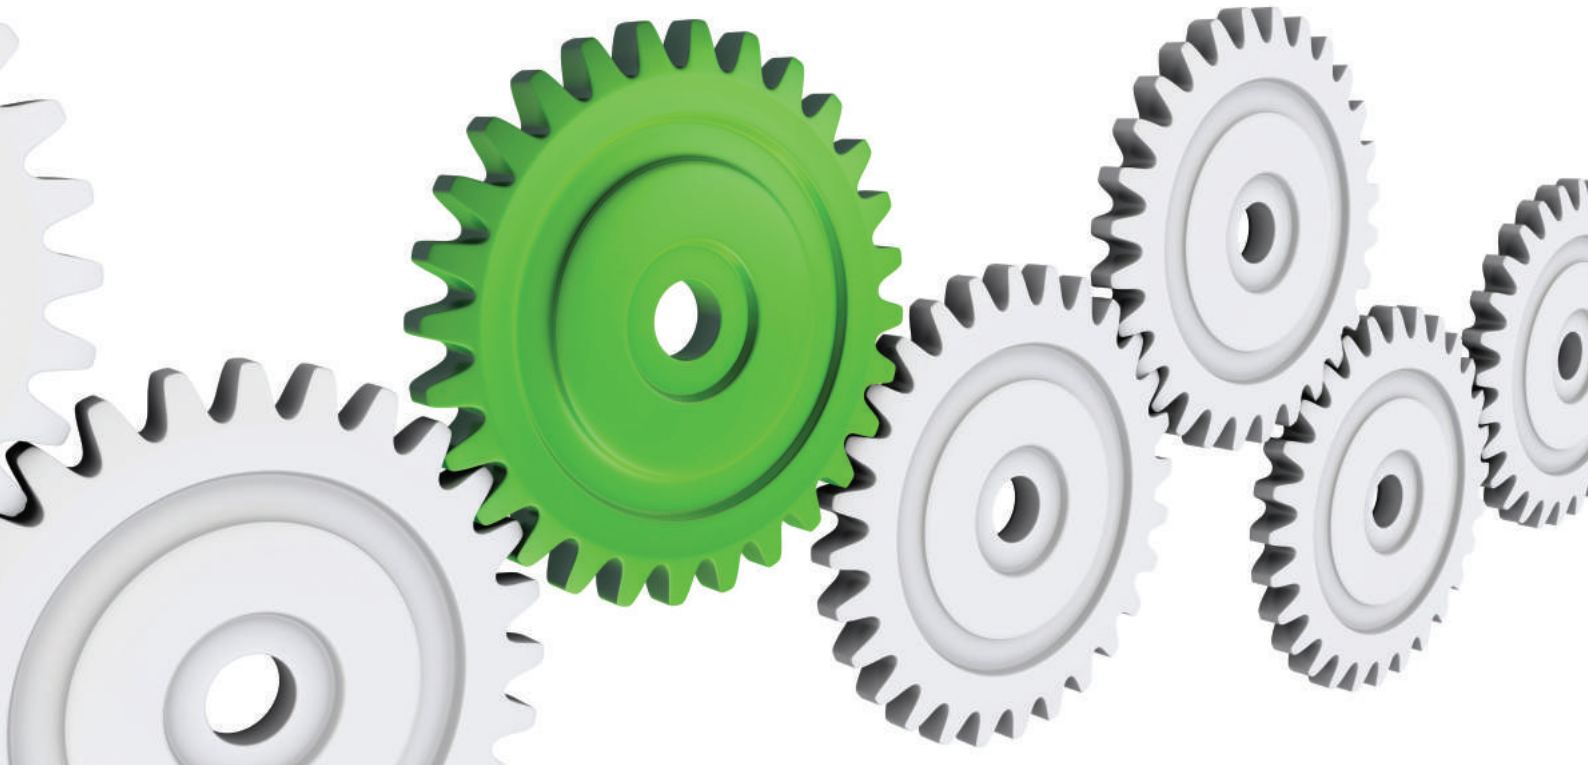

Integration

Near Site Solutions fully integrates space, production and vendor management into one streamlined program, allowing you to dramatically reduce costs. DG3 goes above and beyond simple facility management. We increase productivity, decrease expenses and optimize technology services.

Pivotal features of Near Site Solutions include:

- Migration of core services to highly secure Near Site production locations, ensuring timely production and delivery of mission-critical, confidential documents
- Consolidation of services to a single source for global requirements
- Elimination of outsourced, fixed expense models of copy centers and mail rooms
- Variable pricing and volume-based on-demand discount programs so you pay for only what you use, and are rewarded when you use more
- Access to state-of-the-art top-quality production technology and output services in major global business centers
- Integrated communications services which include: scanning and indexing, digital and offset print production, fulfillment, mail services; all complimented by leading workflow and document management applications

Near Site Solutions fuses planning, process, procedure and facility management into one single source on a global scale.

Consolidation

Put your existing facilities to their highest and best use by reducing square footage Utilized for non-core operational activities.

DG3 led the most recent outsourcing wave of financial services printing facilities, saving many of the world's top financial firms millions of dollars. Outsourcing is but one way to cut costs and ease constrained budgets. By combining outsourcing with facility management and streamlined management, DG3 provides the top echelon of the financial services industry with another innovative, cost saving solution.

DG3 operates in major financial centers throughout the world. The combination of local expertise with a comprehensive worldwide infrastructure ensures a seamless integration of consolidated global resources and localized service.

What does this mean for you?

- Global volume incentives
- Standardization of global production
- Strategic placement of Near Site locations close to your offices
- DG3 regional subcontract management for reliable, effective tracking of local vendors
- Reduction of space and labor costs
- Improved production quality and expedited turnaround
- Streamlined invoicing and cost management
- Multiple, trackable delivery options based on geography
- Built-in disaster recovery and business continuity
